YOUR RESULTS

Professional Path Profile

PREPARED BY

The Ramen Phase

YOUR PROFESSIONAL PATH PROFILE

Congratulations and Thank you!

Thanks for making the time to take the Professional Path Profile Assessment.

And Congratulations!

Because with this information you are on your way to creating the impact and lifestyle you desire - and deserve - to have.

Hi - my name is Sarah Pratt, and I founded The Ramen Phase and created this assessment to help passionate people like you discover your purpose in life and find fulfillment by creating the impact and lifestyle you most desire to have.

So let's get to your results!

Sarah Pratt

Sarah Pratt
Founder of The Ramen Phase

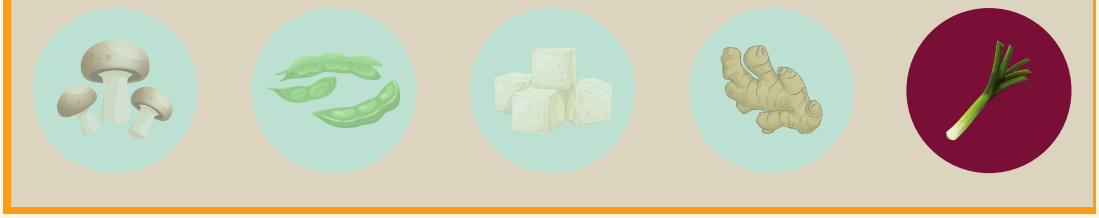

Romy ♡

© The Ramen Phase LLC. All Rights Reserved.

YOUR PROFESSIONAL PATH PROFILE

Your Professional Path Profile:

SCALLION

Based on the information you've shared
and the little I know about you and your situation,
the Professional Path Profile that best describes you is:

SCALLION

© The Ramen Phase LLC. All Rights Reserved.

YOUR PROFESSIONAL PATH PROFILE

Here's What That Means...

Scallions are the creatives, bringing new vision, expression, and beauty to a mundane and stagnant world. More than a simple garnish, a Scallion imparts a necessary and unmistakable depth of flavor to everything they're a part of.

A Scallion has likely explored different pursuits or hobbies which involve designing, building, decorating, and problem solving. Their curiosity leads them to learn and discover, as well as create their own unique ways of doing things.

A professional path which allows them to make their own decisions, have a flexible, inspiration-led schedule and color outside the lines a lil' bit is essential for a Scallion's overall sense of satisfaction.

© The Ramen Phase LLC. All Rights Reserved.

Common Scallion Challenges

But because of this, Scallions can have a difficult time finding fulfillment in most typical employment positions. The rigidity of the workplace often leaves Scallions feeling empty when they are unable to do things their way or express their natural creative tendencies.

And the things that a Scallion may wish to pursue as hobbies tend to not be financially sustainable on their own, or at least not initially, as the stereotype of the starving artist has taught us.

Basically what that means is that while a Scallion's focus is on discovery and expression as opposed to getting rich, the reality is that in order to achieve the lifestyle that many desire there must be a stable and reliable source of income.

The pressure of depending on your creativity and inspiration as a source of income almost always chases away that very same inspiration. It leads the Scallions to creating what the market wants, instead of what the Scallions themselves feel called to express.

So while a Scallion's motivation is not about making tons of money, the truth is that money is a crucial part of funding the creative lifestyle you desire to achieve.

© The Ramen Phase LLC. All Rights Reserved.

Here's What You Can Do About It

But I don't want to discourage you from considering these things as options just because funding can be difficult, and you see, right now I'm actually setting up stable, reliable, flexible sources of income for myself online so that I can use my time and funds in order to pursue my own life's purpose, which, in my case, is to establish and build a nonprofit to rescue cats...

Because I love cats!

And that may not be your life purpose, that's probably not everybody's life purpose, but whatever yours is, I created The Ramen Phase to help teach you how to do these things yourself, so that you can use your time and your funds however you choose to find fulfillment in life and create that impact and lifestyle that you most desire.

© The Ramen Phase LLC. All Rights Reserved.

YOUR PROFESSIONAL PATH PROFILE

Your Next Steps

The way I see it, if people are becoming millionaires every day online, wouldn't it be amazing if us creatives of the world learned their strategies and then implemented them, using the money generated to support our inspired pursuits? This shift in thinking is what tore down the walls in my own mind on what was possible, and paved the way for me to truly get serious about creating the lifestyle I most desire to have while also doing something I feel passionate about.

Now, I know you are likely busy with various projects and hobbies, but I encourage you to take just the next few minutes and give yourself permission to learn more. After all, by working smarter, not harder we can all find a way to free ourselves of the confines of traditional employment and spend our time doing what we love.

The main Ramen Phase site has a growing list of resources on many different business models that you can explore if you're interested in learning more about this whole concept, as well as many of the essentials you'll need to get started, like purchasing a domain and all that.

But I don't want to overwhelm you with all that right now because this might still be a fairly new idea for you. So instead of going straight there I made a much shorter page of resources selected especially for Scallions, and that'd be a great place to start.

© The Ramen Phase LLC. All Rights Reserved.

Your Next Steps

Now, remember that I only know a little about you based on your answers to the assessment you just took, but that's what I'm going off of so of course you are the one who is going to decide what's right for you and what isn't, I'll just share my best recommendations. That's also why I curate these resources across various business models, income opportunities, personal strengths, and all that, because I understand that this isn't a one-size-fits-all kind of thing.

The first thing you'll find on the next page is a section of income-generating ideas and business models tailored to your professional path profile. I've selected these ones specifically because they are effective, scalable, working right now, and largely able to be automated.

Of course nothing that I recommend is a get rich quick scheme because, can we agree that success doesn't happen overnight? It doesn't, it takes time and effort, but it's absolutely worth it in the end.

Honestly when I was stuck in a job I did not enjoy, that took a lot of effort too and all my time. Building something for yourself, your chosen path, and your future is a far better investment of your time and energy.

© The Ramen Phase LLC. All Rights Reserved.

Your Next Steps

Below that you'll see a recommended course you can take online if you're interested in learning the step-by-step ways to set them up. And I recommend this course for many reasons, but for one - this is actually the course that I started with, and that I'm using to set up and grow my streams of income online.

They also have a huge community online and probably the best thing about it is that it actually includes 3 courses in one - it covers all three of those income options I mentioned in the section above, so if you end up checking out the course and want to try out one option, but then pivot and do a different one, you already have the whole course for that too! Or you could even try out all three if you'd like!

The intro video for that course goes into more detail about these three income options, and while I know you may not be drawn to the flashy millionaire lifestyle, keep in mind the opportunities this could open up for you and your drive to discover, express, and create.

So I just wanted to mention that because it is a really great program for getting started, but there are other resources on that page that you can look over too - I also added a short list of book recommendations, because I believe reading and lifelong learning are so crucial to our personal and professional growth. There's a link to our complete book list on there as well if you're wanting to check that out.

© The Ramen Phase LLC. All Rights Reserved.

Your Next Steps

And finally, I know there are a few different ways you can end up at our assessment, so in case you're unfamiliar with our approach I wanted to review our 4 steps to fulfillment - dream, discover, delve, and dare.

Dream is what you were already doing before you found yourself here - you have a desire for change, or a curiosity of what else is out there, or maybe a clear passion and purpose that you would love to pursue.

Discover is what you just did - you took a few moments to fill out our assessment in order to take that first big step toward finding a path to fulfill that dream.

Delve is what's next - delve into the resources on the next page and learn about the options and opportunities that are out there. We've curated this list and the site in general to provide you with the resources we believe can best help you move closer to that dream.

And finally...

Dare - dare to be bold, go after that dream, and build the life, the impact, and the future you've always desired. It's going to take work, and some time, and plenty of effort, but in the end, isn't it worth it?

© The Ramen Phase LLC. All Rights Reserved.

YOUR PROFESSIONAL PATH PROFILE

Your Next Steps

Most importantly though, you don't have to do it alone.

We're also building a community of people who are all on this same journey. If you're interested in finding support and comradery along this path, check out our community resources, like our MISO Facebook group, our MISO+ Patreon, and follow us on your favorite social platforms for more motivation and ideas.

That's about it for now! Keep in mind that I'm always trying to find new things to help you out, so check back for updates and new resources!

I wish you success and peace in your endeavors, and look forward to being on this path of change with you.

I'll see you out there!

Sarah

Continue to Scallion Resources

Click here to go to the page of resources curated for Scallions!

© The Ramen Phase LLC. All Rights Reserved.